WHAT IS THE INSTITUTE OF MATERIALS, MINERALS AND MINING?

The Institute of Materials, Minerals and Mining (IOM3) is a leading UK science and engineering institution whose activities encompass the whole materials cycle, from exploration and extraction, characterisation, product design, processing, forming, finishing and application, to product recycling and land reuse.

IOM3 exists to promote and develop all aspects of materials science and engineering, geology, mining and associated technologies, mineral and petroleum engineering and extraction metallurgy, as a leading authority in the worldwide materials and mining community.

WHAT IS THE INDUSTRY AFFILIATE SCHEME?

Selecting appropriate materials and processes is critical for wealth creation from innovative products and services.

Established in 1996, the IOM3 Industry Affiliate Scheme (IAS) offers organisations the benefits of Institute membership along with access (via its information services) to its unrivalled knowledge and understanding of engineering materials and their processing.

The scheme was originally established to support SMEs that do not have in-house materials expertise, are diversifying or who want specific access to materials, mining and minerals data. Over the last 20 years IAS has broadened its appeal and now counts a significant number of large multinational organisations within its membership.

THE BENEFITS OF IAS MEMBERSHIP

Member benefits are focused around the following areas:

- Technical support
- Professional development of staff
- Access to materials information and research

- Full IAS membership for academic institutions - £650 + VAT
- Full IAS membership for organisations with more than 250 employees - £950 + VAT
